

INSTRUCTIONS TO AUTHORS

Updated October 2016

The Journal of Work and Organizational Psychology is the publication entity for scientific expression of the Official College of Psychologists of Madrid (www.elsevier.es/jwop).

The Journal of Work and Organizational Psychology is an open-access journal with 3 regular issues. All articles are immediately and permanently accessible to facilitate their reading and download.

All original contributions will be evaluated anonymously (double blind) by external expert reviewers designated by the Editor.

The authors of the articles submitted to the journal do not make economic contributions neither for sending articles to the journal or for their publication, in which case the authors cede the article's copyright (transfer of copyright in these rules) but reserve their personal rights <https://www.elsevier.com/about/company-reported/policies/copyright>.

The use by readers is regulated by the Creative Commons license: Attribution-Noncommercial-No Derivative Works (CC-BY-NC-ND). This license allows the reader to read, print, download and translate the article for exclusively personal use and/or share it with a third party, provided credit is given to the author, the version of the article is not modified and none of the uses of that article are for commercial (profit) motives.

In the event that the author, due to the policies of the institution to which they belong, requires a CC-BY license after the article has been accepted, they must contact Elsevier by e-mail: jwop@elsevier.com

Submission Guidelines

- a) Papers should be sent online via the website <http://ees.elsevier.com/jwop>
- b) Submission of a paper to Journal of Work and Organizational Psychology implies that it has not been sent simultaneously to any other journal, or previously been published elsewhere.
- c) The journal adopts the style and norms of the APA Publication Manual, published by the American Psychological Association, Washington D.C., USA (http://www.apa.org/journals/authors/manuscript_check.html).
- d) Texts should be double-spaced with a wide margin (e.g. 2.5cm to each side), with all pages numbered (including the title page). The manuscript should be prepared by using MicrosoftWord, 12 point Times New Roman font. Tables should be included at the end of the manuscript, on separate pages, and their approximate placing within the main text. The tables must be produced using the <tab> key and without using dividing lines.
- e) Any graphs and illustrations should also be included at the end of the document, after the tables and on separate pages. Their approximate placing in the document should also be indicated. Graphics must be in grayscale only.
- f) Manuscripts must include an abstract (summary of the content in no more than 150 words), if the original is in Spanish, the abstract must also be sent in English.
- g) Manuscripts in Spanish must include (at the end, before the bibliography) an extended summary of the work that is an explanation of the question studied, method, results and discussion. This extended summary must not include tables, graphs or illustrations, and, if necessary, will make precise reference to those found in the main text. It will be 1500 to 2000 words long.

- h) The title of the work should be written on the first page of each manuscript, and, if the title is in Spanish, its translation into English will also be included, along with a short title, the name or names of its author(s), their affiliation (not a full postal address), key words, a postal address for correspondence and any other information related to the manuscript's elaboration or concise thanks which the author wishes to transmit and which are of interest.
- i) References should include the corresponding DOI. Authors can paste the list of references onto the website http://www.crossref.org/guest_query/ and obtain the list of references with the DOI for each, in those cases that have DOI (it is also possible on the same website to get complete details of a reference <http://www.crossref.org/SimpleTextQuery/>).
- j) The responsibility for obtaining written permission to use any material likely to be subject to copyright protection is the author's. This includes, but is not limited to, figures, graphs, tables, images and photographs.
- k) Authors will cede their copyright to the Colegio Oficial de Psicólogos de Madrid, by accepting the appropriate form. Intellectual property rights remain the reserve to the authors. The Colegio Oficial de Psicólogos de Madrid will authorize authors to use material published by Colegio Oficial de Psicólogos de Madrid and which is intellectual property of the authors, at any time, without the need for prior authorization, as long as the journal in which it was published is quoted.

Print proofs and copies of articles

Authors whose articles have been accepted for publication will receive printing proofs, normally in the form of PDF files, to the contact address that they provide, and these should be carefully checked to see that they are entirely the same as the original accepted for publication. Proofs should be returned within 72 hours of receipt. Given that these proofs are created from the electronically submitted manuscripts already accepted, no modifications or alterations will be accepted at this stage apart from correction of printing errors or small mistakes not detected during the revision process. Authors will receive 5 copies of the issue of the journal in which their article appears, free of charge. In addition, authors may request additional copies of the issue in which their manuscript is published at special rates established by the Colegio Oficial de Psicólogos de Madrid.

Once the article has been accepted, the corresponding author will receive a link to the online version for signature for the transfer of copyright to [Official College of Psychologists of Madrid], with the power to transfer the rights to third parties, as well as the signing of the Creative Commons license: Recognition – Noncommercial – No derivative works (CC-BY-NC-ND: <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-nd/4.0/>), which regulates the use by readers.

Authors who have received funding from the US National Institutes of Health or who belong to the Howard Hughes Medical Institute must agree to signing an exclusive license for the publication and distribution of their article, which will made be available online and subject to the conditions of use signed for in the Creative Commons license. If this is the case for you, you must contact the following email address; revista_copm@cop.es

Apart from the rights of use provided by the Creative Commons CC-BY-NC-ND license, the contents published in the Journal may not be used without permission from the Official College of Psychologists of Madrid.
